Censorship 'Not Acceptable'

Censorship is neither acceptable nor practical in modern life, Ray McDonald, British Columbia motion picture director, told the legislature's movie committee Wednesday in Victoria. Mr. McDonald, 55, said: "In 1933, censorship was an acceptable and an efficient method of dealing with real or fancied problems of communication including motion picture entertainment," he said. "Today it is neither acceptable or efficient." He said nearly all the complaints he receives about movies come from elderly people, and more than 50 per cent come from people who have not seen the film they are complaining about.

Industrial Development Minister Waldo Skillings said Wednesday in Victoria he will support a proposal for a superport at Prince Rupert, B.C., when he meets in Vancouver Saturday with representatives of the Prairie provinces.

Justice Minister Otto Lang, responsible for the Canadian wheat board, said in Ottawa attempts are being made to speed the flow of grain through the port of Vancouver and he is optimistic that greater quantities can move through the port.

Negotiations for a master contract agreement for the British Columbia coast logging industry opened Wednesday in Vancouver with employers completing that union demands "lend an air of unreality" to the proceedings. The International Woodworkers of America has a list of 44 demands, including an across-the-board wage increase of $1 an hour, which regional president Jack Moore has said arises "out of years of frustration for our members."

Mayor Gordon Nicol of Kamloops has asked the provincial government for a legal opinion on the staking of mining claims within Kamloops' boundaries. This came after it was learned three mining firms had staked more than 160 claims in a 700-acre area in the southwest corner of the city.

The unmanned Luna 20 spacecraft is heading back to earth with bits of moon rock drilled from a mountain area between the Sea of Fertility and the Sea of Crisis.

The provincial cabinet in Victoria has ordered Arthur John Towell back to jail to stand trial for the murder of a couple killed by a sniper in Vancouver almost five years ago. Towell has been held in Riverview Mental Hospital since the deaths of David Wester, 31, an assistant professor at UBC, and his wife, Marlene, 30. A coroner's jury found he was of unsound mind and he was committed to Riverview. Towell now has been certified as recovered and he will be transferred to Oakalla correctional centre "to await his trial or other disposition according to law."

A North Vancouver man, Robert Findlay, whose wife died last September at a health spa in North Vancouver, has launched legal action for damages in British Columbia Supreme Court.

Vancouver City council has approved in principle a program to bury some utility lines underground at a cost of $3 posals was prompted by Premier W. A. C. Bennett's announcement in the recent budget speech that the province would provide $10 million for municipalities wishing to bury utility lines as a beautification measure.

Justice Minister Jerome Choquette says in Montreal fines and jail sentences for possession of "soft" drugs such as marijuana and hashish should be lighter than at present.

The Quebec Police Commission inquiry into the conduct of Jean Jacques Saulnier was adjourned today until Friday at the request of Mr. Saulnier's lawyer, Jean-Louis Leger in Montreal.

The train involved in a collision with a car at a level crossing in Montreal Friday was a Canadian National freight train, not a CP Rail train as the Canadian Press reported. Nick Clark was trapped for two hours in his car. The collision, pinned by his hands and legs. He was freed by firemen and removed to hospital where his condition was described as satisfactory.

The British Columbia Social Credit government was given an urgent request by one of its own members Wednesday to come up with some "bold, new policies" to help farmers in northern B.C. cope with a situation "worse than the hungry 30s." Don Marshall, SC, South Peace River, produced a list of suggestions in the legislature for the government to provide assistance to these farmers "in order to meet this very dangerous situation."

Peter Auld's admiration of Prime Minister Trudeau cost him $100 Wednesday in London, Ont. During the prime minister's visit last Nov. 11, he held a banner that read: "Bienvenue To A Great Canadian And A Far Out Prime Minister." The banner attracted the attention of an RCMP plain-clothesman who then saw Auld throw a cigarette to the ground. The policeman discovered it was marijuana. Auld, 22, was fined $100 for possession.

The Marquis of Salisbury, a power in Britain's Conservative party and member of the Cecil family, which dominated political life for three centuries, died Wednesday. He was 78. A right winger, Salisbury was the grandson of the man who gave his family name to the capital of Rhodesia.

Logging Plan Opposed

COURTENAY, B.C. (CP) — Conservationists here are organizing a campaign to prevent MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. from putting logging roads and cutting timber in the White River watershed.

Barry Thornton, president of the Steelhead Society of B.C., said the group's aim is to protect sport and commercial fish spawning grounds in the wilderness. Mr. Thornton said the group, which includes the Comox-Streathon Natural History Society on behalf of the B.C. Federation of Naturalists and the Vancouver Island Wildlife Association, was accused of being "emotional and selfish" when it met with company officials in Vancouver this week.

Burnaby-Edmonds called for a review of the B.C. Egg Marketing Board.

Robert Strachan (NDP — Cowichan-Malahat) said the provincial government should regionalize the Milk Marketing Board.

Don Marshall (SC—South Peace River) asked for government action to help the northern B.C. farmers.

NDP leader Dave Barrett knocked the government for not promoting the sale of B.C. apples.

Highway Unclogged

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—The Yellowhead Highway between Prince Rupert and Terrace was reopened to convoyed traffic Wednesday after being blocked by deep snowslides since last week. The highway, No. 16, was clogged for a nine-mile stretch between two points when a series of slides thundered down onto the road.

OFFICER DIES

VANCOUVER (CP) — Insp. Joseph Cotter, 58, a veteran of 30 years on the city police force, died in hospital Wednesday. He joined the force in April, 1941, and rose through the ranks to become an inspector, in 1966.

SI-MILLION BYLAW

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—Ratepayers in North and West Vancouver vote next month on referendums for additional school operating funds totalling more than $1 million. North Vancouver is seeking $815,668, the amount by which the district's $16,779,419 budget exceeds a new government limit on operating expenses. Voting will take place March 16. West Vancouver school board, whose total budget of $6,328,265 is $226,000 over the new ceiling, says it may have to lay off 50 teachers if the referendum is defeated. No date has been set for the vote. A 60-per-cent yes vote is required for passage.

BUREAU TO OPEN

VANCOUVER (CP)—An information bureau for consumers opens here next week. The B.C. branch of the Consumers' Association of Canada will staff the office with volunteers who can advise consumers on various problems and who can tell consumers where to make complaints.

SEARCH ENDS

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — RCMP Wednesday called off the search of Judge Anthony Robinson, 38, who disappeared last week while returning home to Kinloch, northeast of Prince Rupert in his fishing boat. Last Monday, he radioed from near Fort Simpson that his 35-foot boat was having mechanical trouble.

CASH GRANTS STOP

VANCOUVER (CP) — Under threat by the provincial government to withhold funds, the Children's Aid Society of Vancouver will not make cash allowances to a select group of older wards. The society will revert to the system of giving vouchers to wards over the age of 17, who were to receive cash grants because they demonstrated responsibility and maturity. Rehabilitation Minister Phil Gaglardi said there has been "a fantastic amount of young people using the money for drugs and other purposes."

A Most-Wanted Canadian Believed Held In Aussie

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — A man described by police as a most-wanted fugitive from Canada was arrested in a dawn raid on a Sydney suburban home Thursday.

Police refused to name the 35-year-old bearded man, but said he was wanted by Canadian authorities for questioning in connection with the death of a police informant and the attempted murder of a prison warden and his son.

The man is alleged to have escaped from prison in British Columbia in 1966 while serving a six-year sentence for narcotics possession.

An informer later was killed, and the prison guard and his son were injured when they opened a Christmas parcel containing a bomb. The guard lost both hands, the son one eye.

SURROUND HOUSE
Police sharpshooters surrounded the house in Jenkins Road, Carlingford, at 3 a.m. Three hours later, a police squad armed with pistols and shotguns burst into the house and found the man cooking breakfast for a young woman and two children living there.

The man threw up his hands and backed against the kitchen wall.

Police seized two revolvers and a large quantity of ammunition.

A spokesman said officers of the RCMP were expected to arrive in Australia soon to apply for an extradition order.

The man, held on charges of being an illegal immigrant, is being questioned about holdups here, police said.

FAT LOSS
SASKATOON (CP) — Saskatchewan residents lost 25 tons of fat during 1971—but nobody's missing it. A Star-Phoenix reporter found that about 3,000 persons enrolled in the city's recognized weight-loss clubs and special diets, calorie-counting, hobbies and exercise programs all had played a part in an estimated weight-loss of 17 pounds for each person.

HASTE MAKES WASTE
VANCOUVER (CP) — A lot of people appear to have handled their Christmas card mailing in too great a hurry. The Vancouver post office reports that it ended the 1971 Yuletide season with 44,000 Christmas cards and letters undelivered because they lacked such vital information as street addresses, destinations and, in some cases, the name of the people they were intended for.

YOUTH DRAMA FESTIVAL

Students from Rutland Senior Secondary do their thespian thing Wednesday night during school's production of The In-Group at two-day youth drama festival at Dr. Knox Secondary School. Other plays presented included Miss Twiddle and The Devil, by George Pringle students; Queens of France, Inmaculata; Sorry, Wrong Number, KLO Secondary, and Interlude by the students of Winfield's George Elliot Secondary. The festival continues tonight with a KSS presentation of Playgoers: Coming Through the Rye, by Regional College students and Down, by the City Group. (Courier Photo)

TRAFFIC REPORT

January A Quiet Month For The Men In Blue

January's miserable weather resulted in a relatively quiet month for Kelowna's men in blue—the special traffic officers. A heavy snowfall and cold weather combined to keep the city's downtown area free of heavy traffic—and if you felt like going downtown, you probably had little difficulty finding a parking spot. Because of the weather conditions, traffic officers lost several days for the marking of tires, although they made numerous patrols and were called upon to perform traffic duty at numerous intersections. Later in the month, at the request of city administration, they checked snow and ice conditions on sidewalks and roofs where possible danger existed for passersby. According to the monthly report submitted by senior traffic officer Kenneth Preston, the number of overtime parking tickets handed out, 429, was the lowest number recorded for the month of January in the past three years.

FILING TIPS

You And Your Taxes

In this continuing series on tax tips designed to help Courier readers with their 1971 returns, the Pension Branch of National Revenue has prepared the following as some of the most asked questions.

Question — On my income tax return, I have always claimed my father as a dependent. Last March he was killed in an auto accident. How much may I claim for him, if anything, in my tax return?

Answer — If your father's income for the year, up to the date of his death, was less than $950, you may claim any amount you spent for his support during the year of his death, up to $550 maximum.

Question — Last year my wife and I decided to assist a child who lives in another country. We send regular payments for this child to receive food, clothing and education under the "Foster Parents Plan". We have not adopted this youngster, but I am wondering if I claim the child as a dependent on my income tax return, or claim the money I send to her as a charitable donation?

Answer — You may not claim the child as a dependent as you did not have custody or control over the youngster. However, payments made in the year to the Foster Parents Plan of Canada are eligible for deduction as charitable donations when supported by proper receipts.

Question — My mother does not live in Canada and I send her a regular allowance. Her income is less than $950 a year. Is there a special form I must complete when claiming her as a dependent?

Answer — You should complete and attach to your return a form TIE-NR which may be obtained from your District Taxation Office. You should also submit remittance receipts such as cancelled cheques, bank drafts, or money orders, as proof of support. These documents should show the amount remitted, date of purchase, and the name of the person to whom the support was given.

Question — My father qualifies as a dependent and each year on my tax form I have to fill in all the information regarding his age, income, etc. Is it not possible for me to just put "see last year's return" so that I do not have to fill in the same details each year?

Answer — If you omit any of this information on your tax form you are probably going to delay the processing of your return. Therefore, you should enter all the information asked for each year.

Question — I understand that to qualify as a dependent for income tax purposes my mother's income must not be more than $950. Does this mean her net income or her gross income?

Answer — It means her net income before deducting her personal exemptions, charitable donations or medical expenses.

Question — My mother, age 63, has an income of under $950 and I contribute to her support. On the tax form I see I must state whether she is infirm. My mother is very well for her age, but could not possibly take a job. What exactly is meant by infirmity?

Answer — "Infirmity" is not defined for purposes of the Income Tax Act but is taken to mean a degree of physical or mental infirmity which prevents a person from being gainfully employed.

Question — My husband and I both work and I have to employ a housekeeper to look after the children. When filing my income tax form, can I claim the housekeeper as a deduction?

Answer — No. For the year 1971, the housekeeper's salary is not deductible for income tax purposes either by you or your husband.

Question — My wife and I are both retired. She receives the Old Age Security pension. When I am making out my income tax return and claiming my wife, must I include the Old Age Security pension as part of her income?

Answer — Yes. The Old Age Security pension as well as any supplement received are her income and must be taken into account in determining the amount, if any, of your married exemption.

Question — I am a married man with wholly dependent parents living overseas. What exemption can I claim for my parents?

Answer — You may claim the actual amounts spent in support of your parents up to a maximum of $550 each. Form TIE-NR, which you can obtain from your District Taxation Office, must be completed and attached to your income tax return.

Question — I supported my 20-year-old daughter until she became married in June, 1971. She had no income before or after marriage. Who can claim an income tax exemption for her?

Answer — In this case, you may claim an exemption of $550 for your daughter and her husband may claim an exemption of $1000 for her.

Indian Bid Successful

Indian councils for Kootenay-Okanagan and Thompson River districts have succeeded in getting their own economic development officers. The federal Indian affairs department planned to make Douglas Weir, of Vernon, an economic development officer for both areas, and move him to Kamloops. He was land use officer for Kootenay-Okanagan district. Councils for both districts have said he would have too much territory to cover. Kootenay-Okanagan district has 12 bands and about 2,200 members. Thompson River, in the Kamloops area, has 25 bands with about 3,600 members. Screening committees for both districts met Tuesday in Vancouver with L. E. Wright, department regional director in B.C. It was decided Mr. Weir will be economic development officer for Kootenay-Okanagan, and an officer will be sought for Thompson River. Mr. Weir is serving that area temporarily.

Mrs. Ella Hall Funeral Friday

Funeral services will be held from The Garden Chapel Friday at 2:00 p.m. for Mrs. Ella Maud Hall who died Wednesday at the age of 91.

Mrs. Hall was born at Bracebridge, Ont., on Feb. 26, 1880 and homesteaded near Regina, Sask., in 1906. In 1926 they moved to the Winfield area where she resided ever since. She took a particular interest in gardening and fishing.

Mrs. Hall was predeceased by her husband in 1937 and is now survived by two sons, Fred and Charles, of Winfield; one daughter, Mrs. Jack (Mildred) MacKenzie, of White Horse; eight grandchildren, 26 great grandchildren, and four great, great grandchildren.

Rev. Frank Lewis will officiate. Burial will follow at the Lakeview Memorial Park Cemetery.

...Snow

The weatherman predicts winter will remain for a while longer. Occasional snow and a little colder has been forecast for Friday. High will be 25 to 32, high and low in the city Wednesday was 37 and 15 with no precipitation, compared with a cooler 33 and 11 with a trace of snow for the same day at the airport. Overnight low expected today from 10 to 20.

SEEN and HEARD

Modifications to the bridge on Bernard Avenue near Burth Road are expected to begin soon, according to A. L. Freebairn, B.C. highways department engineer. They are designed to improve visibility. The bridge may be closed for short periods of time.

A film on Dr. Norman Bethune, Canadian surgeon and author, who became a hero in China, highlights Friday night's regular Doc Gonzo Medicine Show at the National Film Board Theatre on Queensway Avenue, starting at 7:30 p.m. Other films include Eskimo Artist-Kenojuak, The Great Toy Robbery, Passing Through Sweden and Falling From Ladders.

Bruce Howard, MP for Okanagan Boundary, will be in Kelowna Friday afternoon for consultations, especially regarding unemployment insurance. He will be at 1630 Ellis St., from 2 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Appointments may be arranged by phoning 762-4333.

Investigation is continuing into allegations by the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners that a city construction company does not pay fair wages. The union made the charges in December after Prehof Construction received a contract to build a pavilion in City Park for the city. Council agreed to investigate the matter if the union provided evidence.

Students in Grades 10-12 in Rutland Secondary School have moved into the addition recently erected behind the school.

A live chinchilla will be part of the illustrated talk by Mrs. J. H. McHarg, March 1, at 2 p.m., at the Okanagan Mission community hall, and is part of the Senior Citizens Drop-In Centre activities. Mrs. McHarg and her husband have been raising the fur-bearing animals since 1944 and now have 400 on their fur ranch.

Doug Leadbetter is finding a photographic memory invaluable for his role in The Music Man. He plays the part of Prof. Harold Hill, a con man. One speech contains 500 words, and must be given to a musical beat. The show will be at the Kelowna Community Theatre March 14-18. Tickets are being sold at the Bank of British Columbia after March 1.

BCTF Office Up For Sale

A familiar city landmark, the B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. building at 1473 Water St., has been listed for sale. It was confirmed today.

A company spokesman told the Courier the structure, housing the administration offices of the well-known firm, has been listed with Carruthers and Melke Ltd., since Feb. 15 for an asking price of $270,000 covering land and building.

The spokesman added the company plans to construct administration facilities in another location, not necessarily in the downtown area. No site has been picked as yet, and no details on a proposed new building are available. J. E. Duncan, president of the combined companies of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., and Sun-Rype Products Ltd., was not available for comment on the sale today.

Kelowna Not Supporting Request By Revelstoke

Council has declined to support efforts by Revelstoke city council to speed construction of power dams on the Columbia River.

Revelstoke council wants the provincial government to study the possibility of constructing two dams as soon as possible. "Because of our lack of knowledge, I think we should receive and file this," suggested Ald. S. A. Hodge. Other members agreed.

At the request of the Rotary Club of Kelowna, a January decision not to appoint a representative to the Pleasantville Homes Society was rescinded. The club operates the society to provide low-cost housing for elderly people. Dr. H. R. Henderson was named to represent council, with the suggestion he report to council.

The annual meeting of the Okanagan Mainline Municipal Association will be March 9 in Summerland. Ald. Alan Moss is the official delegate. Ald. S. A. Hodge and Mayor Hilbert Roth, an executive member, may attend. The meeting is open to all members.

The capital expenditure program will be discussed at a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. next Monday. Under the new system there would not be another open council meeting until March 6.

Ald. William Kane will be acting mayor next month, to serve when Mayor Roth is not available.

Authority was granted for a right-of-way indenture across land south of 2090 Glenmore St., outside the city, for municipal purposes.

Three readings were given to a bylaw to amend side yard requirements in the industrial district.

Ald. Gwen Holland opposed a motion to permit subdividing 119 McTavish Ave., known as the Pollard property. In 1967 council bought the land and house for extending City Park. When nothing had been done by last year, council voted to sell it except the waterfront. Ald. Holland feels it should be retained for park uses.

HIGHWAY CONDITIONS

The following is a road condition report from the Highway Department to 8:30 a.m. today.

Highway 97 — bare, dry, watch for frost heaves and deer on road.

Highway 33 — bare, lower levels black ice sections, sanding.

Fraser Canyon — mostly bare, some slippery sections, sanding, watch for rock on road.

Catch Creek - Kamloops — mostly bare, dry, some slippery sections, sanding.

Rogers Pass — one inch new snow, slippery sections, sanding.

Alison Pass — bare, lower levels compact snow, higher levels sanding. Watch for rock on road.

Princeton-Penticton — mostly bare, some black ice, sanding. Watch for rock on road.

Trucking Talks Resume Monday

Negotiations are to resume Monday in Calgary between the Teamsters' General Union and trucking companies who operate in more than one province, says A. J. Barnes of Kelowna, secretary-treasurer of Local 181.

Only one company, Millar and Brown, operates through this area. Local 181 has 150 members working for that company.

Talks between the union and the CNR are expected to resume soon in Vancouver. Chapman Transport, a CNR subsidiary, also has 150 workers in Local 181.

Mr. Barnes said the union will be involved with local trucking companies.

Osoyoos-Grand Forks — mostly compact, slippery sections, sanding.

Salmo-Creston — bare and slippery sections, sanding.

Blueberry-Paulson — compact snow, slippery sections, sanding.

Monashee — mostly bare, some compact snow sections, sanding.

Yellowhead Route (Kamloops-Jasper) — light snow, slippery sections, sanding.

Accidents Reported

Slippery streets continue to make driving tricky for area drivers, and police reported a number of mishaps Wednesday. About 5 p.m. on Highway 33 near Highway 97, vehicles driven by James Howk, of Kelowna, and Bernard Bartier, of Rutland, collided, causing about $300 damage. There were no injuries.

A minor mishap on Highland Drive south, shortly after noon caused about $225 damage to cars driven by Georgina MacDonald, and Craig Moore, of Kelowna.

An accident on Belgo Road Wednesday morning caused about $700 damage to cars driven by Emil Hirsch and W. J. Pittendreich, both of Rutland. Police reported no injuries.

An accident Tuesday morning at the corner of KLO Road and Richter Street caused an estimated $245 damage to cars driven by Laraine Smith, of Salmon Arm, and Kenneth Larson, of Westbank.

Residents Approval Sought Domestic Rate Set At $6.50

About 2,000 Okanagan Mission home owners will decide the fate of a proposed $750,000 domestic water system at a combined public meeting and voting Feb. 23.

Ratepayers will be asked to decide approval or rejection of the water system which, according to Okanagan Mission Irrigation District trustees say will provide an adequate supply of domestic and irrigation water under year-round pressure.

The scheme isn't new to home owners who approved a study of a water system by the irrigation district a year ago. In a bid to cut costs, trustees asked the provincial water investigations branch to take over the feasibility probe and government engineers have been working on the proposal since.

The resulting plan will be unveiled at the Okanagan Mission Community Hall at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday.

Under the proposal, a $150 per lot connecting application fee would be charged, with additional charges for late applications following initial installation of the system. Domestic tolls per connection would be $6.50 a month, with irrigation tolls working out to $10 per acre a year. Minimum annual tax levy would be $45, with estimated minimum cost to a single family dwelling being $123 on an acre or less a year.

Residents currently on existing public utility services will not pay hook-up charges and no tax will be levied for a five-year period. Such residents, however, will pay the $6.50 a month domestic toll charge.

Eoin Lamont, chairman of the irrigation district, said acceptance of the proposal is "very vital to the future well-being of the area."

Trustees urge all residents concerned to attend the meeting.

They've Better Things To Do Than Squealing Their Tires

Three people from Kamloops recently had an unimpressive experience but, through it, found out about a new organization that promotes kindness and courtesy on the road.

They were driving on Highway 33 when one of them became ill, so they pulled off the road. The car went into snow about half way up the door. In vain they tried to get it out or get help from other motorists.

Finally a group of young men stopped. Seeing a chain was needed, and unable to get one from a passerby, they drove 32 miles to Rutland and back for one. In minutes they had the car out and on its way.

The young men are members of a new breed of knights of the road, The Valley Street Rod Association Auto Club Inc.

Members stand ready to go to the aid of stranded motorists anytime.

Consisting mainly of Rutland people, the club was started about a month ago. Meetings are held every Monday night at the home of Del Skobalski, 665 Leith Rd. There is a shop there where members work on their own cars. President is Carl Nelson.

Help is given at the risk of the motorist. Rides will be provided to blood clinics, polls and other places. It is hoped to form similar groups in Penticton, Vernon and Kamloops. Plans are being prepared for drag races in the summer. Members are thinking of buying a station wagon and fixing it to enter races.

IN COURT

Ted Szelest, of Kelowna, was fined $200 and prohibited from driving for one month, after pleading guilty to a charge of impaired driving.

Coates and Clark Limited, of Kelowna, was fined $25 for operating a business without a valid licence issued by the City of Kelowna.

Ernest Alfred Campbell, of Kelowna, was remanded to March 27, after a not guilty plea was entered on a similar charge.

Bill Cash, of Kelowna, was fined $15 for violating a city bylaw by parking in a reserved area.

Eugene David Weisbeck, of Kelowna, was remanded to March 10, after pleading not guilty to a charge of driving without insurance.

Ronald Melvin Wallin, of Penticton, was remanded without plea to March 3, charged with impaired driving.

Two Assume Positions

A Kelowna alderman and a Rutland man have positions on the executive of the Okanagan Regional Library Board.

Ald. Alan Moss, who represents city council, was named vice-chairman at Tuesday's annual meeting. C. D. Buckland retains his position as treasurer. He represents School District 23 (Central Okanagan).

Ald. Marlene Gilchrist of Coldstream steps from vice-chairman to chairman. She replaces William Halina, former Vernon mayor, no longer on the board.

Executive members are Ald. Sandra Heal of Armstrong, Avery King of Penticton and T. H. Armstrong of Salmon Arm. The latter two are school trustees.

Danny To Rest In Home Town

The body of Daniel Allan Jones, 8, of Fort St. John, who died suddenly Feb. 21 will be sent home for burial.

The boy was with his family to ski and visit friends in the Kelowna area and was the object of an intensive search on Big White Mountain.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Jones and two sisters, from Fort St. John.

Mother Nature Has Way Of Striking With Death

It is a wonderful thing to see a family play together, enjoying the outdoor life, but when tragedy strikes it is sad.

For a Fort St. John family of five, who were enjoying a week-long skiing holiday at Big White Ski Resort, Tuesday was a day of bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Jones with their son Danny, age eight, daughters, Wendy, 11 and Kim, 12, had just started their skiing holiday and it was to be a happy week.

Monday, about 3 p.m., Danny decided to take a last run before the 4 p.m. closing time for skiers. He had plenty of time to make the run and return to the lodge before curfew.

That was the last time Mr. and Mrs. Jones saw their boy alive. Searchers found his body Tuesday afternoon in the bush about three miles from the family cabin. He had died of exposure and exhaustion.

The tragedy, like many others, could have been averted but how do you expect an eight-year-old, who was having the time of his life and wanted one more run at the hill he enjoyed so much, to consider any danger that could arise.

Searchers felt that the boy did not panic until he came to a road and probably figured it was a secondary road and had to go deeper to reach the main road to the lodge. The road he had crossed was the main road and once in the bush he apparently got lost.

One wonders if a boy that age should be left alone in such a vast ski area, even though Big White is considered one of the safest. Accidents do happen.

We, along with the many involved with the search and the people of the Valley who kept track of the search proceedings, express our regrets to the family. There is no doubt they were closely knit and were enjoying the beautiful winter playground.

Other than a few broken bones that goes with skiing no matter where you go, Big White had a perfect record. Their ski patrol is one of the best in Canada and they have awards to prove it.

They were in action immediately and worked around the clock, but time and the elements (it was snowing heavily) were against them. They found the boy and without their expert training it could have been days or even weeks before the body would have been found.

No matter how many precautions taken or rules laid down 'mother nature' has a way of crossing things up.

CANADA'S STORY

Vancouver Growth Hit By Fire, Riots

By BOB BOWMAN

Vancouver and Winnipeg have been vying for years to be Canada's third largest city. Winnipeg regained the honor Jan. 1 through an amalgamation that included such historic communities as St. Boniface, St. Vital and Edmononton. Its new population figure is 535,000 compared with the Vancouver total of 425,000.

Of course, Winnipeg had a head start, becoming a city in 1874. Vancouver was not incorporated until 1886 when it had 70 business establishments. They included a dozen hotels, three restaurants, five grocery stores, four boot and shoe shops, and 10 real estate companies. Two months later the entire community burned to the ground.

It seemed for some time that Vancouver was jinxed. Its citizens did a wonderful job of rebuilding after the fire, but a riot Feb. 24, 1887, led to suspension of the city charter.

In 1887, the railway line was being extended from Port Moody, the official Pacific coast terminal, to Vancouver. Chinese laborers were employed in the work for low wages.

This led to a protest meeting at city hall, attended by about 300 people. There were several inflammatory speeches and then someone shouted: "Those in favor of turning out the Chinese tonight say 'aye'." There was a roar of assent and the people charged into the street shouting: "Tonight, tonight!"

The Chinese were living in temporary shacks about a mile away and the rioters had to stumble along a rough trail in the dark to reach them. Then they began a roundup, treating the Chinese roughly and ordering them to leave the area.

The Chinese were saved by two brave police officers, Chief J. Stewart and Supt. Roycroft of the provincial force. They herded the Chinese into a large shack and stood at the door to protect them from the mob.

A fire was started in Chinatown and Vancouver might have been burned to the ground again if citizens had not helped the fire department put out the flames.

The incident led to the suspension of the city charter for a time while the area was put under protective custody by the police.

OTHER FEB. 24 EVENTS:

1662—Bishop Laval announced that people selling liquor to Indians and Vancouver might have been burned to the ground again if citizens had not helped the fire department put out the flames.

1865—A telegraph line was started from New Westminster, B.C., to Russia, but was not completed.

1915—Canadian troops were in action at Armentieres.

1925—Canada and the United States agreed on control of Lake of the Woods waterways.

Here's How ECM Works

BRUSSELS (AP) — The Common Market at a glance: Old members: France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Netherlands, Luxembourg.

New members: signing Saturday: Britain, the Republic of Ireland, Norway and Denmark, with membership effective next Jan. 1, subject to votes in each candidate country.

Headquarters: The executive commission and the council of ministers in Brussels, the Court of Justice in Luxembourg. The European Parliament meets in Strasbourg and Luxembourg.

What it does: It runs a customs union—all members let in one another's goods duty free and charge the same duties on goods from outside countries. The new members will move gradually toward this arrangement and complete it by 1978.

Farm policy: Farmers' income is supported by guaranteed prices. Imports from outside countries are discouraged by levies that bring foreign food up to the same cost. The levies go into a fund to subsidize farm exports.

Law for business: Uniform on taxes, cartels, quality standards, pollution and many other matters. Some are guidelines, others are binding.

How it works: The commission represents the area as a whole. It makes proposals to the council of ministers. Each member country has one vote on the council, with a veto on all vital matters. The European Parliament gives its advice and can throw the commission out of office—but it never has.

Pipeline 'Sure' For Mackenzie

OTTAWA (CP) — Oil and gas pipelines along the Mackenzie Valley are a certainty, Energy Minister Donald S. Macdonald has said.

He added that Canadians will be majority owners of the line. In his first official comment on the proposed pipeline since he assumed the portfolio last month, Mr. Macdonald told reporters that "you have to take a Mackenzie Valley pipeline as a given element of energy policy."

Current studies on the pipeline, to be completed before the end of this year, involved questions of how they should be built—no whether they should be built.

Mr. Macdonald also predicted that the Trans-Alaska pipeline system, opposed by environmentalists, eventually will be constructed.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A TANTRUM

Sir: With reference to editorial on Feb. 21, it appears that in order to bring out short comings of our provincial government and indeed there are short comings. This doesn't excuse the prime minister's gratuitous insult offered to a premier of a province. Too often Prime Minister Trudeau has been guilty of exercising a "childish tantrum" by some foul expression or insult.

Let's recall when he suggested to an MP that he was drunk, again when he mouthed an unpleasant expression to another MP and please do not forget the vulgar gesture toward press members.

There is no excuse of such behaviour on the behalf of any man holding high office.

Yours truly,
VIOLET R. SHARP
Kelowna

RESENTMENT

Sir: With regard to your editorial of Feb. 21 "Embarrassed, Ashamed," may I remind you that Canadians have been embarrassed, ashamed, even incensed by the abominable behavior and policies of Mr. Trudeau and his government.

The B.C. government is not at war with "the rest of Canada," but apparently it is aware of which way the wind has been blowing the last few years since the federal election. Mr. Bennett, Mr. Peterson and their colleagues, of course are not perfect, however they are giving a voice to the growing resentment felt by many people in this province. Yes, we are Canadians first and British Columbians second.

I grant that we need co-operation, understanding and tolerance in dealing with problems in our nation; however, these three qualities or attitudes have been as "water off a duck's back" as far as Ottawa is concerned. Letters, telegrams and petitions of protest have been ignored, while we have beheld harmful and distasteful legislation being forced upon us.

I believe our provincial government, even with some of its shortcomings, is courageous and honest in bringing some of these things out into the open. If I lived in any other province (and I have been a resident in six provinces, including Quebec) my feelings would be exactly the same.

In closing, sir, if the loss of advertisements for liquor and tobacco is so serious to the survival (financially) of newspapers and periodicals, and they can't carry on without them, then I suggest they find more worthy means of subsidizing them or else close down their publications. Do they not have an obligation toward the society which they pretend to serve? Yes, and that obligation is to try and better that society, not advertise things detrimental to its physical and mental health.

Yours truly,
A. J. GERBER
Kelowna

CONVICTS DAY OFF

Sir: Oh, heavenly days! Convicts are taking off all over the place! No sooner does Solicitor-General Goyer turn his back to look for Yves Geoffroy, "the vanishing bridegroom," than Karen Howard, the frantic Francophone, takes off from Kingston! Just shows you can't trust anyone!

According to the news report in the Courier of Feb. 22, the comely Karen is of the gentler sex, and from Vancouver, B.C. She requested leave of absence from the Women's Correctional Institute at Kingston, Ont., to attend a night school course. Her desire was quite understandable; she wanted to brush up on her conversational French. How's that for British Columbians being bigots? But somehow she forgot to return to her lodgings!

If this means that convicts who show an interest in acquiring a knowledge of the French language receive preferential treatment, it could start an unfortunate trend. The popularity of French among our criminal element will increase to such proportions that anyone who is proficient in the use of the language will lay himself open to the most grave suspicions!

Yours truly,
ALLAN FENWICK

SMILE AND . . .

Sir: To "smile and smile" might well be effective political slogan but such smirking does not conceal that the premier has no answers to legitimate questions about archaic policies and attitudes. Many Canadians who are fortunate to have chosen British Columbia as their home know that it is the bounties of our physical environment and not the policies of the provincial government that makes them lucky to live here.

The man from Victoria who occasionally deigns to visit his Okanagan riding can rarely take time from his role-playing as premier to serve as our representative in the legislature. He often tells us what is good for us but rarely asks us for our thoughts—he's far too busy "plugging-in" elsewhere. As a result, there is probably no other provincial riding in Canada that has been so poorly represented for such a long, long time.

To some, the reflected glory of having the Premier elected locally is a sufficient substitute for this lack of representation. I, for one, am tired of a benign grandfather pontificating from above. I want an MLA!

More and more people are beginning to realize that a policy of "Economic Growth" (the corner-stone of Benoit's Credit) is self defeating because our Earth simply can't sustain it.

We may rip off thousands of acres of prime recreational land at Elk River to fuel the industries of Japan; but we do not delude ourselves that such long-term despoliation for short-run gain will serve as a legacy for our children. Such is not "the good life."

The examples are myriad: tear-out, chop down, subdivide, pollute, flood, promote, and grow, grow, grow. Mr. Bennett, you're not getting better—you're getting older. Please listen, stop!

Yours truly,
ROGER M. TAIT

TODAY in HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Feb. 24, 172 . . .

Louis XIV of France took over New France from the Company of 100 which had been colonising Canada 309 years ago today—in 1603—after the governor, Dubois Lavergne, had made himself thoroughly unpopular. Settlements were by no way a success and only Dollard des Ormeaux's fight had saved Montreal from being wiped out by Indians. Under royal rule, the colony could raise more taxes and pay more soldiers, but it could not compete for long with British settlements, far larger, to the south.

1955—Turkey and Iraq signed the Baghdad Pact.

1945—Premier Ahmed Maher of Egypt was shot and killed in the Chamber of Deputies shortly after reading a royal decree declaring war on the Axis.

1943—The German counter-offensive in Russia began less than two weeks after the Russian recapture of Rostov and Kharkov.

1903—The United States acquired a naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

1818—Louis Philippe of France abdicated and the Second Republic was proclaimed.

Public Hungry For More

The American public, gluttonously devouring millions of printed words and vivid, satellite-delivered television pictures on President Nixon's China visit, are growing increasingly insatiable.

An hour later they are hungry for more.

Perhaps, as one observer put it, it is because they are seeing and hearing everything, and yet nothing at all.

What they really want to know is what is going on behind the curtain that shields the private talks from the camera's eye, says a Canadian Press story out of Washington.

Denied this, the public and even much of the official Washington is left to scrutinizing every word written by the comparative handful of accompanying reporters; studying every TV picture for any betrayal of coolness, and overt show of friendliness.

And the Chinese hosts are keeping the far-away American spectators guessing.

The airport welcoming ceremony was small and cool. But next day a presidential meeting was hastily arranged with the enshrined leader, Chairman Mao Tse-tung, and ran over its appointed time. Afterwards, the Chinese said the session was "frank and serious"—which in Communist parlance means it was more than ceremonial and that areas of disagreement were included. Nothing is known about what was said.

But, as Nixon, Premier Chou En-lai and other Chinese leaders are well aware, they are playing to a far greater audience than the American folks back home. Moscow is watching, and Tokyo. So are the Chinese Nationalists, no doubt apprehensively, on Taiwan, and other Asian powers in New Delhi and elsewhere.

To the eyes of most observers here, the nuances of Nixon's and Chou's public exchanges before the cameras have shown a mastery of subtle statesmanship so far.

Chou, in a toast, said the U.S. and China had been separated for 20 years for reasons "known to all," meaning, without saying as much, U.S. support for an independent Taiwan.

"There is no reason for us to be enemies," said Nixon who in his early years in Congress was a noted red-baiter who sought to alert the U.S. to fears of a China menace.

Nixon had repeatedly warned the American people in advance against expecting too much out of this initial contact.

Actually, in the view of many commentators, both sides would get maximum advantage from the talks by resolving not to go too far too fast.

For Nixon, his "journey for peace," as he called it, could give an immeasurable lift to his campaign for re-election next November. Also, he can use it to keep the Russians off balance, but he must be cautious not to push the Soviets too far, particularly in the face of present delicate disarmament negotiations.

Nixon may, as some commentators suggest, believe genuine agreement with Moscow is far more important than better relations with Peking. He also may believe that the Japanese, angered that they were not given advance warning of the Peking visit, may in the long haul be a more important diplomatic partner.

For the Chinese, the visit also serves their purposes of keeping the Russians nervous. Additionally, after so many years of self-imposed isolation, it offers a fine platform from which to tote the increasing importance of the new China before a world-wide audience.

'An Abomination' — Mayor Thwaite

PEACHLAND (Special) — "The building is an abomination and should be torn down." That was Peachland Mayor Harold Thwaite's reaction Wednesday at a meeting of municipal council, when a delegation from the Chamber of Commerce asked council to retain the lease on the recreation hall, which they had planned to close on March 1.

This would, they said, give them a chance to look into the possibility of preserving the building, an eight-sided structure and one of only three of its style built in Canada, as an historical site and part community museum.

Mayor Thwaite said if the chamber wishes to do this, he could see no problem, as the lease the municipality holds on the property from the Department of Highways does not expire until October.

However, he added, "It is foolish, the community isn't big enough for a museum and anyway, who wants to preserve old relics?" The chamber, he said,

Band Parents Meeting Held

OYAMA (Special) — An election of officers was held at a meeting Tuesday for George Elliott Senior Secondary Band Parents Association. The meeting was held in the library of Wood Lake Elementary School with chairman D. F. Elliott presiding.

Mr. Elliott was re-elected chairman and Mrs. P. L. Pipke of Oyama was elected vice-chairman. Mrs. M. Day of Winfield was elected secretary and Mr. P. Greer also of Winfield was elected treasurer.

Mr. J. Macdonnell, George Elliott bandmaster, explained a trip the band hoped to take to Medicine Hat or Radium and Invermere. An auction to finance the trip will be held April 13 in the Winfield Hall.

Mrs. Gerald Holitzke of Newens Road in Winfield and Mrs. Gus Reich, Highway 97 in Oyama offered their residences as drop-offs for the donations. An auction committee was formed, consisting of Mrs. Holitzke, Mrs. D. F. Elliott, Mrs. Dan Shumay, Mrs. Pipke and Vernon Earle.

Mr. Macdonnell also described a possible new uniform for the band incorporating the school colors of black and white. He intended to send a circular to all band parents asking their opinions of the proposed new design.

Three Centres Will Benefit

Penticton, Revelstoke and Salmon Arm will benefit from a federal works program for the 1972-73 fiscal year starting April 1.

A $13,752,000 major program for the four western provinces was outlined in the Commons Wednesday.

Penticton will receive $867,000 for a federal building addition, Revelstoke, $100,000 for a public building and Salmon Arm will receive $240,000 for a public building also.

DANCING SUCCESS
MONTREAL (CP) — Ten years ago, the Canadian-Polish dance troupe of St. Mary's parish was started by parents who wanted to keep their children off the streets. Today it is a successful troupe of 80 dancers ranging in age from five to 10 and performs regularly at Place des Arts, at Man and His World and for the Quebec Immigration department.

Valley Family Court Work Outlined By Judge Colver

Okanagan Valley Family Court workers have more time to deal with problems than workers in other centres. Judge R. D. Colver, of Penticton, judge of the family division for the provincial court for Penticton, Kelowna and Vernon, made the observation in his report for 1971.

The Okanagan Valley enjoys a distinct advantage in terms of time available to deal with family problems. With just over 1,400 appearances in the family division in the three Okanagan cities in 1971, the daily appearance number averages 10.5. The work of the court is divided into two areas; child protection applications, family maintenance applications and family assaults occupy morning sessions.

Afternoon sessions are devoted to prosecutions brought under provisions of the Juvenile Delinquents Act and Section 65 of the Protection of Children Act.

Family division hearings occupied 134 court days in 1971, and, with the exception of statutory holidays and annual vacation periods, court sessions were regularly held in Kelowna on Wednesdays, Vernon on Thursdays and Penticton on Fridays each week.

A brochure has been made available which generally describes the work of the family court. Judge Colver's 1971 report is intended to outline some developments and trends which have occurred in the Valley since 1968.

Junior Forest Warden Clubs Need The Support Of Adults

Youths interested in the protection and wise use of forest and wildlife resources will find that the Junior Forest Wardens of British Columbia appeal to their interest in the outdoors.

Junior Forest Warden clubs, sponsored by the Canadian Forestry Association, will be started in the Rutland and Westbank areas in the near future.

Training consists of many courses in forestry and woodlore, fire fighting, tree identification, radio communications and more. The club is directed to appeal to a boy's imagination and interest in the age group 10 to 16 years. Camps and field trips provide an opportunity to put theory into practice. Warden courses are planned to emphasize the aspects of modern forestry.

The Junior Forest Warden group in Kelowna was started in 1950 and since that time many Junior Forest Wardens have moved into the field of forestry or resource management for a living.

Enthusiasm appears high in Rutland and Westbank areas about the formation of a club, but the existence of a club will depend upon the support of adults. Other warden groups are being started in the Okanagan Mission, Summerland and Winfield areas, depending on adult support.

Persons interested in working with the youth of today and helping form an organization in either Westbank or Rutland can contact the Canadian Forestry Association in Kelowna, 503 Sutherland Ave. or phone 762-0430.

LOLA McDONAGH

Funeral services will be held Friday at 1 p.m. from Day's Chapel of Remembrance for Mrs. Lola Melvina McDonagh, 45, of Winfield, who died Tuesday in Vernon Jubilee Hospital.

Mrs. McDonagh is survived by her husband, Ross, one son, Gregory, at home, and a daughter, Mrs. Bruce (Jennifer) Bray, of Ladner; two grandchildren, three brothers, Roy Barger, of Revelstoke, Lawrence, of Vancouver, and Eugene, of Telkwa, as well as a sister, Althea, of Kelowna.

Rev. B. Pritchard, of Vernon, will conduct the service, with interment to follow in the Garden of Devotion in Lakeview Memorial Park.

Special Day For Students

RUTLAND — Tuesday was a special day for the Rutland Secondary School, grades 10, 11 and 12, pupils and teachers, when they occupied their new premises.

To make an event of this change-over the students requested their teachers dress in something different. The winner was John Robinson, dressed as Napoleon and runner-up James Wyatt who was bandaged and carried to the new building on a stretcher.

Today, 450 young people are hard at work in the attractive classrooms, decorated in colors of gold, beige, browns and oranges, where they start working at 7:50 a.m., and complete their day at 2 p.m. These hours are necessary because buses have to be used for the transportation of both the Secondary and the Elementary Schools.

This new school is still short three rooms and portables will have to be used until the extensions, recently authorized, are completed.

Congregations All Celebrate

Special services were held on Sunday at the Peachland First Baptist Church, on Blue Waters, to commemorate the 68th anniversary of its founding.

Joining in celebrations were members of all Peachland church congregations, and many Baptist friends from up and down the valley.

An address was given by the present minister, Rev. R. F. Filer, while bringing greetings from Valley Baptist Churches was Rev. Sid Waterman of Penticton.

Visiting choirs in attendance included the Penticton Youth Group choir and the Kelowna First Baptist Church four-part choir. Afternoon tea and a social hour was held after the service.

The anniversary celebrations services will continue next Sunday, February 27, at 2:30 p.m., and will feature the minister and the men's choir from the Trinity Baptist Church in Kelowna.

IN APPRECIATION

Mr. and Mrs. Al Jones of Fort St. John, B.C., wish to express their sincere and deepest appreciation to the many hundreds of volunteers who assisted in the search for our son Danny on Big White Mountain, especially the Ski Patrol and ski instructors, cross country club, RCMP, Kelowna Air-Sea Search and Rescue, Alpine Helicopters and the many concerned and helpful parties in Kelowna and entire district. Thank you.

NEW TENTING EXPERIENCE

Floyd Durrell, inhalation therapist at the Kelowna General Hospital, beams with pleasure as he accepts a cheque for $1008 on behalf of the hospital for purchase of two croupettes and a respirator. The donation made by Mrs. John Kropfmüller, past regent of the Dr. Knox Chapter, IOOE, was made possible by the proceeds from the chapter's sole fund raising project, a superfluity shop on Ellis Street. One of the croupettes is seen here being used by a young patient, Stephen Pa-caryuk, who is enclosed in the plastic tent. Two nozzles, one for intake and one to output keep the air circulating. A reservoir of water below supplies humidity and an ice chamber cools the air, if needed. (Courier photo).

ACW Members Plan A Tea At Extended Care

Plans were made at the February meeting of the Evening branch of the Anglican Church Women of St. Michael and All Angels' parish to hold a rummage sale on March 8 in conjunction with the Afternoon ACW.

Mrs. Syd Freeman reported on two dinners, entered to the CNR Pensioners' Club and the annual supper of St. Michael and All Angels' Church.

Arrangements were completed to serve tea one afternoon this month at the Extended Care Unit of the hospital. The meeting ended with a humorous auction sale with Mrs. F. J. Guérard as auctioneer.

HITHER and YON

Mrs. H. C. Dunlop and Mrs. A. E. Maile, both of Lakeshore Road, have completed a wonderful seven-week vacation in the Pacific during which they toured many islands, including the Yasawa Islands, which are as yet, off the regular tourist beat. They also visited the islands of Fiji, Cook, Society, Samoa, Tonga, Tahiti and the French Polynesia, stopping off a few days at Waikiki on their return journey.

Mrs. R. K. Gordon and Mrs. R. D. Knox were co-hostesses for a miscellaneous shower at the latter's home on Bluebird Road, in honor of Julie Treadgold, whose marriage takes place on Saturday. Special guests included her mother, Mrs. W. O. Treadgold and her sisters Nancy and Wendy. The honoree was seated in a specially decorated chair, with umbrella, pom-poms and streamers and following a couple of games the gifts were presented in a box appropriately decorated. Gauze, pills, bedpan and other nursing equipment trimmed the box; appropo, Julie's graduation as a nurse. Wendy Treadgold, who assisted in unwrapping the many lovely gifts, presented by the 16 ladies who attended, also fashioned a bride's 'bow chapeau' for Julie to wear. Refreshments were served to complete a happy evening.

A house guest this week with Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Knox is Patrick Taylor of Vancouver, who will be among the wedding guests Saturday when Julie Treadgold becomes the bride of William Benson of McBride.

Also expected to arrive at the airport on Friday are Elizabeth Knox and Colleen Gordon, both of Vancouver, who will be accompanied by Barbara Treise, RN of the Vancouver General Hospital. Miss Treise will be maid-of-honor for Julie Treadgold, a recent graduate of the Vancouver General Nursing school and while here will be a house guest with Miss Gordon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Gordon of Pandosy Street.

Miss Kinsmen And Sing-Outs Earn Ovation At 'Kin' Night

Virginia Slobodian, Miss Kinsmen '72 in the current Lady of the Lake contest received a standing ovation for her contribution to the entertainment during the annual Founders-Ladies Night, hosted by the Kelowna Kinsmen Club.

Miss Slobodian accompanied herself on the guitar for two solos during the social event, which included a smorgasbord dinner at the Kelowna Golf and Country Club.

Kelowna's Sing Out group, who also entertained with some of their infectious optimism, also received a standing ovation from the 55 Kinsmen couples and guests in attendance.

The celebration was held to observe the founding of the Kinsmen Association 32 years ago and to give thanks to Kinsmen ladies for their help and service.

President Am Corrado and his wife Jan welcomed the guests to the evening which was preceded by a number of cocktail parties hosted by Mr. and Mrs. James Lidster; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kergan, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Phillip; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mervyn, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Behrman; Mr. and Mrs. Eric Tasker; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Olynick and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Denny.

Sharing head table honors with Mr. and Mrs. Corrado were president of the Kinette Club, Mrs. Wally Axelson and Mr. Axelson; vice-president of the Kinsmen Club, Andrew Sperle and Mrs. Sperle; secretary Eric Tasker and Mrs. Tasker, and special guest, Miss Slobodian and her escort, Rob McDougall.

The toast to the association of Kinsmen Clubs was made by Allan Ribelin, with a moving reply by James Lidster.

A hilarious toast to the ladies was given by Dr. Allan Broome to which Mrs. Peter Bulatovich replied in poetry.

Dancing to the Snow Castles was enjoyed until 1 p.m.

ANN LANDERS

Rich Kids Will Be The Achievers

Dear Ann Landers: I am fed up with articles and bored with speakers who insist that children from affluent families turn out to be rotters and bums. The statistics prove the contrary. Most achievers come from upper middle-class families with a strong tradition of service. Examine the record and you'll find that the leading industrialists, statesmen, physicians and artists do not come from disadvantaged homes. For example, look at the Rockefellers, the Fords, the Saltonstalls, Harrimans, Mellons, Kennedys—I could go on and on.

Please put an end to this old canard. Perhaps today's rich kid is not doomed after all.—Ken Observer

Dear Keen: To be a rich kid in the 70s is not the same as it was in the 20s. Today's teenagers have the bomb, Vietnam, pollution, drugs and parents who grew up in a depression. Time will tell how well they will live. Too often, it's "from shirtsleeves to shirtsleeves in three generations"—and that's a matter of record, too.

Dear Ann Landers: I was so pleased when I read that wonderful line in your column by the person who said: "We have four children. Two of them are adopted. I can't remember which ones."

My husband and I feel the same way about our adopted children. We have two others. It's amazing that our chosen youngsters bear a greater physical resemblance to my husband

Club 17 Enjoys Second In Series Of Slide Show

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McKay showed the rest of the Middle East slides to the members of the Senior Citizens' Association, Club 17 on Saturday.

At the garden tomb, where Christ was baptized in the river Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. McKay's son and daughter-in-law took a jar of the Jordan River water and used it to baptize their children when they got back home.

Highlights of the afternoon show were glimpses of the beautiful flowers, including some growing on the Mount of Temptation. Other scenes of interest were St. Catherine's monastery, the Cheops, the largest pyramids with steps leading up to an opening; the Burning Bush, a cairn at Beirut; among many others.

Pictures of the native people and some of their customs were intriguing and minarets and mosques depicted in the slides were admired. To complete the program the McKays showed some outstanding Canadian scenes, some in Kelowna City Park, a Canadian sunset and a rainbow, so perfect and beautiful that someone asked if it were real.

MORE TOURISTS
SEOUL (AP) — Japanese tourists have begun to outnumber American visitors to Korea for the first time since the Second World War, the transportation ministry said. It said in the first nine months of 1971, there were 68,000 Japanese and 43,000 Americans.

CMHA

Discovery Club Starts Schedule

When William Halyck, president of the Canadian Mental Health Association in Kelowna cut the ribbon to officially open the Discovery Club in St. David's Presbyterian Church Hall, it was a tangible expression of love and devotion for the members. The executive and advisory board of the CMHA branch have worked hard during the past year to make this club a reality. It will be open Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. each week.

Newly appointed co-ordinator of the new venture, Mrs. J. A. Rigate, welcomed the members and guests and assured the members that the volunteers were their friends and will be assisting them at their club at all times.

Guest speaker, Mrs. John Olinger spoke on the volunteers who assist the club and Rev. Ian Hind expressed the need for social clubs to meet the needs of people who haven't many social outlets.

Mrs. Richard Wood sang Bless This House, accompanied by Mrs. J. C. Easter and the Madhatters from Rutland directed by Mrs. William Drinkwater provided some light entertainment.

Refreshments were served by the volunteers.

Failure To Vote Results In Fine

PERTH, Australia (Reuter) — Rancher Leonard Calsey, who claims his 18,000-acre West Australian spread has succeeded from Australia, was fined $2 here for failing to vote.

Calsey, 45, who has declared his Hutt River province ranch 200 miles northwest of Perth a principality and appointed a "cabinet," pleaded guilty to not voting in state elections. Voting is compulsory.

Perth Magistrate F. Bateman asked him: "If you claim not to be an Australian citizen, what are you doing in this court without a passport?"

SPORTS SCENE

Embarrassed Says North

By ROSS PHELPS

"I felt embarrassed for him," was the way Kelowna Bucks manager and interim coach Wayne North put it after referee Bruce Walker had called 40 penalties in a game between Bucks and Penticton Broncos Tuesday night.

"Players have bad games, and I only hope that he was having a bad game. He's a good referee but he didn't seem to be able to get in the game."

There were 40 penalties called in the game, and add one if ejecting Penticton coach Don Slater falls into that category. Nine players found their way to the dressing room, leaving the remaining stalwarts to carry on.

Bucks were tired by the end of the game, and that's a large part of the reason the game ended in a 5-5 tie. Tired players make mistakes, and that's what happened with only a couple of minutes left in the period.

Ian MacCrimmon, just getting over a bout with the flu, was forced to go into the game cold, midway through the second period and played an outstanding game. Defencemen Brad Robson and Dave Okrainic were like goalies because of the number of shots they got in front of and blocked.

Okrainic and Robson had to handle the bulk of the defensive chores, as Greg Fox and Bruce Gerlach were carrying on their contest to see who can compile the most minutes in penalties.

For those interested, Bruce had 22 minutes in penalties to Fox's 24, but is still the top bad boy with two hours and 26 minutes of resting time and leads Fox by two minutes.

While Bucks were down to two defencemen, Broncos' Bruce Affleck found himself all by his lonesome with his defensive corps comrades taking early showers.

Back to Walker's problems, especially in the second period. A minor altercation between Fox and Penticton's minute Mark Patterson broke out into a fight between Buck goalie Ron Bourcier and Broncos' Gerry Sismey.

Both Bourcier and Sismey deserved to get booted out, but Walker obviously disagreed with the dance steps being taken by Bucks' Ken Selinger and Dale Turner, with Bronco partners of Dan Ashman and Terry Puska.

The four got the gate in addition to the first two, and Bruce Walker wiped out with a single motion a move to elect him Citizen of the Year.

On another topic, already lightly touched upon, is statistics. Archie McKinnon took over the scoring leadership Tuesday night with his 23rd assist, which gives him 52 points when added to his team-leading total of 29 goals.

Selinger is a close second with 51 points on 34 assists and 17 goals. Murray Hanson completes the top trio with 19 goals and 31 assists for 50 points.

While the defensive duo of Fox and Gerlach are competing for bad boy honors, another defenceman leads the team in having fewest penalties. Dave Okrainic, in just over 30 games since joining the team, has had four minor penalties. Second to him is forward Jeff Robson with 12 minutes. Robson has been used sparingly, with more work lately because of an injury.

Robson will likely see less action this weekend, as ailing Ken Weninger is expected back. Weninger was hurt two weeks ago and is just getting back into the lineup. He will be in the lineup for Bucks' three-game coastal trip.

North is about to relinquish his interim coach status to Don Culley, who's been holidaying. North isn't reluctant to hand over the coaching reins, and is happy he can return the team to Culley riding an eight-game unbeaten streak.

Allan Judged By Performance
Chisox Willing To Pay The Price

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"The Chicago club judges Richie Allen on what he does for us on the field," White Sox manager Chuck Tanner said after the Chisox dealt pitcher Tommy John and infielder Steve Huntz to Los Angeles Dodgers for the 29-year-old slugger.

The Chicago club must be expecting a lot. Allen agreed Wednesday to a 1972 contract for more than $100,000, making him the highest-paid player in White Sox history.

Allen, who spent seven tempestuous seasons with Philadelphia Phillies, will be playing for his fourth club in four seasons. He hit 23 home runs and drove in 90 runs with the Dodgers in 1971.

While Allen was presumably content, a couple of other prominent American League sluggers were not at least, not yet.

KILLEBREW UNSIGNED

Harmon Killebrew is one of eight Minnesota Twins still unsigned, while Frank Howard is not expected in the Texas Rangers' training camp for "quite a while," says general manager Joe Burke.

Killebrew, 35, earned $110,000 last year and is expected to agree to a raise of about $10,000.

Howard, meanwhile, is another story.

After a big year—44 homers, 126 runs batted in—in 1970, Howard received a $120,000 contract. Now he's coming off his least productive season in five years—26 homers, 83 RBI and a .270 batting average—and the club is asking him to take the maximum 20-per-cent pay cut.

Howard, meanwhile, is asking for a raise.

"We aren't even in the same ballpark," Burke said. "I don't expect him for quite a while, maybe as long as three weeks."

San Francisco pitchers Juan Marichal and Jerry Johnson remained absent from camp, and the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates came to terms with pitcher Nelson Briles, for about $50,000.

Elsewhere, Atlanta Braves signed veteran knuckleballer Phil Niekro; reliever Sparky Lyle agreed to terms with Boston Red Sox, and veteran Steve Fargan, who slipped to a 1-13 record last year, came to terms with Cleveland Indians.

Also, Oakland Athletics signed outfielder Joe Rudi and pitcher Diego Segui; New York Yankees came to terms with Ron Blomberg and Frank Baker; hurler Bruce Dal Canton reached agreement with Kansas City Royals; Montreal Expos signed pitcher Mike Torrez, and New York Mets came to terms with outfielder Ken Singleton and infielders Tim Lincecum and Ted Martinez.

VOODOOS REGIONAL FAVORITES

Rutland Voodoos proved to be the cream of the southern regional Okanagan Senior Boys' AA Basketball League this season as they compiled a 10-2 record in league play to grab first place. Voodoos, who posted a 22-11 season record, will be out to add the southern regional title to their honors as they meet Penticton Lakers, Vernon Panthers and Kelowna Owls in playoffs Friday and Saturday night at Rutland. Members of the championship team are, back row from the left: Darryl Weninger, Ken Angus, Benny

Voodoos Are Favored Team
In South Regional Playoffs

Rutland Voodoos will be odds-on favorites at the southern regional playdowns on their home court this weekend.

Voodoos, who captured the league title with a 10-2 record, will meet fourth place Vernon Panthers Friday night at Rutland at 9 p.m. in the second game of the playoffs. Second place Penticton Lakers will meet Kelowna Owls in the opening game at 7:30 p.m.

Voodoos suffered losses to only two teams this season in regular play, dropping decisions to Penticton and Revelstoke Mountaineers, the power in the northern division.

Voodoos posted a 22-11 season record, including exhibition games. Their mark against the powerful Vancouver teams was a little poorer, as they posted a 7-8 record.

Second place Lakers posted an 8-4 season record this year, one win better than Owls were able to manage. Owls were the only team with a chance of knocking off Voodoos from top spot late in the season but dropped an overtime decision to the Rutland squad then followed with a three-point setback to Lakers to be sidelined from the top ranking.

Panthers started off the season well, but gradually slipped into fourth place. One of their big wins was a victory over Penticton to keep Lakers from on favorites at the southern regional playdowns on their home court this weekend.

The two winners of Friday night's games will meet Saturday to decide the first berth in the Valley playdowns. The consolation champion will meet the loser of the championship round Tuesday to decide the second berth. The game will be played at the home of the loser of the championship final.

The winner of the first berth will meet the northern zone's number two representative next weekend in Valley championships at Kelowna Secondary School. The Valley championships will run Friday and Saturday next week.

Records Will Soon Topple As GAG Line Continues Pace

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New York's GAG Line is on the verge of establishing a new National Hockey League record and could set a third if it continues its torrid scoring pace.

The line, so named earlier in the season after it began scoring a goal a game, was true to form Wednesday night, scoring two goals in the Rangers' 4-3 victory over Philadelphia Flyers.

In other games, Buffalo Sabres, with an assist from their opponents, defeated Chicago Black Hawks 2-1. Boston Bruins rallied to beat California Golden Seals 8-6. Toronto Maple Leafs shut out Pittsburgh Penguins 2-0 and St. Louis Blues blanked Los Angeles Kings by the same score.

Jean Ratelle, the leading scorer on the GAG Line, got his 46th goal of the season, scoring in the second period against Philadelphia. Vic Hadfield also scored, his 40th. Rod Gilbert, the third member of the line, did not score Wednesday night but he is only one goal away from his 40th and when he reaches that mark the line will become the first in NHL history to have each member with 40 or more goals in a season.

Additionally, the line is close to establishing a record of having each member score 100 points or more in a season. Gilbert is nine points and Hadfield 11 away from 100 points while Ratelle, who replaced Boston's Phil Esposito as the NHL's scoring leader, has 108 points.

HAVE 288 POINTS
The Ratelle-Hadfield-Gilbert line also has 288 points for the season, 48 short of the record set last season by the Esposito-Ken Hodge-Wayne Cashman line.

Ratelle's goal Wednesday night was the eighth straight game in which he scored, leaving him two short of the NHL record of 10 shared by former Ranger Andy Bathgate and Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks.

He also assisted on two goals to increase his points-total to 108, one more than Esposito. The Black Hawks, who have lost only three games at home all season, dropped their second straight at Chicago mainly because of a miscue by a player. An untimely kick of the puck by Chicago forward Christian Bordeleau deposited the puck into the Black Hawks' net to give Buffalo its win. Craig Ramsay was credited with the goal.

Earlier, after Jim Pappin had scored the opening goal for Chicago, the Sabres tied it when a clearing pass bounced off Gerry McLean's skates past Chicago goalie Tony Esposito.

OTHER DRYDEN STARS
The Sabres got brilliant net-minding from Dave Dryden, who was making his first start in 13 games. He credited "frustration" for his sharp performance in the nets.

"I just got so tired of practicing and not playing for two months that this game was just fun," he said.

The Bruins, who were involved in a five-man (and a day) with California which sent all-star defenceman Carol Vadnais to Bruins, were trailing the Seals 6-1 before the game was half over.

But the Bruins exploded for two goals late in the second period and five more in the third to sink the Seals, who got two goal performances from Gary Coteau and Dick Redmond in the early stages of the game. Rick Smith and Reg Leach, two of the players Boston gave up to get Vadnais, each assisted on a goal for California.

Fred Stanfield scored three goals for the Bruins to put them back in the game but it was Esposito's two goals less than three minutes apart that won the game for the Bruins. East Division leaders, Bobby Orr assisted on four goals.

PARENT STOPS 'EM ALL
Goalie Bernie Parent, who announced Tuesday he would jump to the rival World Hockey Association next year, gave the Leafs shutout goaltending and moved them back into a tie for fourth place in the NHL's East. Brad Selwood and Ron Ellis scored for the Leafs, who were coached by vice-president King Clancy after regular coach John McEldown was admitted to hospital a few hours before the game to undergo tests for a stomach ailment.

General manager Jim Gregory said McEldown was in fact ill and added: "I don't want any rumors to the effect that he is in the dog house."

Pre-Fight Medical Criticized By Man Who Examined Gray

WINNIPEG (CP) — The pre-fight medical examination of boxers was criticized Wednesday by the man who examined light-heavyweight Stewart Gray, who died after being knocked out in a title bout Monday night with Canadian champion Al Sparks of Winnipeg.

Gray, 27, of Toronto, was knocked out in the seventh round by Sparks, and except for a brief period early Tuesday was unconscious until his death Tuesday night.

Dr. J. Reid Taylor, a Winnipeg neurosurgeon who examined Gray at the pre-fight medical, said the present system of examination is impractical.

He said the doctors see the fighters around noon, give them a brief examination and the boxers fight that night.

"We'd have to get a week's notice before they came to be sure they got a complete history, physical and medical examination."

"It would take an awful lot of work and reconsideration and redoing of the whole plan to give them a complete physical," Dr. Taylor said. "We'd have to be able to spend a day or two, preferably two, to give them the works."

INQUEST EXPECTED
An inquest into Gray's death is expected but a decision will not be made until police complete their report on the incident.

An inquest was recommended by Dr. W. L. Parker, Manitoba's chief medical examiner, who said an autopsy performed early Wednesday showed Gray died of a cerebral edema, or increased fluid on the brain.

He said "as far as we can conjecture" the condition was a result of blows to the head.

The Manitoba boxing and wrestling commission continued its investigation into the death despite the absence of Gray's manager, Irv Ungerman, who commission chairman Norm Coston said refused to appear.

B.C. Foursome Could Help Quebec In Winning Senior Curling Crown

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) — Ken Weldon and his Quebec rink from Montreal will sit on the sidelines this afternoon during the ninth round of the Canadian senior men's curling championship, hoping British Columbia will defeat Alberta.

Weldon chalked up two wins Wednesday in the seventh and eighth rounds to move into sole possession of first place with a 7-1 record and gets the bye in the ninth round.

Alberta's Slim Otterson of Calgary, who had the bye in the eighth round, has a 6-1 record while Gordon Walker's B.C. foursome from Victoria hold third place with six wins and two losses.

In other ninth-round games today, New Brunswick meets Nova Scotia, Manitoba meets Northern Ontario, Prince Edward Island goes against Saskatchewan and Ontario plays Newfoundland.

When eighth-round play ended, N.B.'s Bo Oke from Moncton was in fourth place with a 5-3 record with N.S. and Manitoba tied in fifth with 4-3. Saskatchewan and Northern Ontario had 4-3 records in seventh place and P.E.I. was in sole possession of ninth spot with two wins and five losses.

Stew Brown of Guelph, representing Ontario, and Newfoundland's Lew Budden of Buchans were both winless in seven games.

Quebec took a 9-6 win over Newfoundland in the seventh round and then went on to down Don Bauld's N.S. rink from Halifax 8-5 in the eighth round.

B.C. came up with two wins Wednesday, 8-7 over P.E.I. and 10-8 over Northern Ontario's Ken Myers from South Porcupine.

Don Brownridge led his Manitoba foursome to a 6-1 record.

toba foursome from Portage la Prairie to a 6-4 victory over N.B. and then defeated Ontario 12-8.

Before sitting out the evening round, Alberta scored a 6-4 win over P.E.I. in the seventh round.

SQUIRES SPLIT
Saskatchewan's Gene Squires from Saskatoon edged Ontario 7-6 in the seventh round but took an upset 8-7 loss from Northern Ontario in the eighth.

After losing to Quebec in the seventh round, Newfoundland lost 12-8 to N.B. in the eighth but observers saw a marked improvement in Budden's rink.

The foursome scored their first four-ender of the series, in the sixth end against Oke, and came up with one of the most spectacular plays during Wednesday's encounters.

Newfoundland's second, Harold Evans, cleared the house with a perfect triple takeout in the fourth end but New Brunswick emerged with one point as the end was completed.

Esso Top Guns Still Leaders
By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Vernon has the hottest shooters in the British Columbia Junior Hockey League, holding down the first four places in the individual scoring race and six in the Top 10.

John Price, with 43 goals and 68 assists for 111 points in 49 games, has an eight-point lead on teammates Ernie Gare and Jim Lawrence, who each have 103. Lawrence's total includes a league-leading 73 assists.

Wayne Dye of Vernon, who missed last week's games because of illness, still managed to hold down fourth place with 50 points, including 46 goals. Bruce Affleck of Penticton is four points behind him.

Hungry Thirties 'Return Again' To Peace River

VICTORIA (CP) — A Social Credit member of the British Columbia legislature said Wednesday farming conditions in the Peace River district now are worse in some cases than they were in the "Hungry 30s."

Don Marshall (SC — South Peace), the lone farmer in the house, urged the provincial government to set up a government-sponsored farm marketing corporation, controlled by B.C. producers, to alleviate crisis conditions in the food growing industry.

He said that while Alberta has provided $50 million to aid agriculture in that province, B.C. has only established a $200,000 fund to promote the sale of local food products.

He said the proposed marketing corporation should lend money to create food processing plants which will enable B.C. farmers to compete more efficiently in the domestic and international markets.

This would offset the dwindling borrowing power farmers now have, Mr. Marshall said.

EGG BOARD ATTACKED
The legislature also heard an attack on the B.C. Egg Marketing Board during a debate on Agriculture Minister Cyril Sheldford's salary estimates.

Gordon Dowding (NDP — Burnaby-Edmonds) called for an investigation of the board because of complaints by egg producers in the interior that the board is biased in favor of producers on the coast.

He charged that the composition of the five-man board was not representative and he questioned the membership in the board of a director of a poultry association.

He said the cabinet order-in-council creating the board specified that members of the board would have no connection with the poultry industry.

Meanwhile, a government backbencher accused Mr. Sheldford of being "bogged down in a mire of manure and bureaucracy" concerning farm marketing boards.

RAPS QUOTA SYSTEM
Dudley Little (SC — Skeena) said there is some stupidity in the way marketing boards assign quotas for farm produce and suggested that the minister re-examine the boards so that farmers in some areas can

"progress and produce under the free enterprise system."

Fellow backbencher Herb Bruch of Esquimalt added that the boards tend to protect farmers from the demands of the open market and do little or nothing to promote good quality produce.

Mr. Little raised the example of a poultry farmer in northern B.C., who, like other farmers, is subject to "control by the farmers in the Fraser Valley."

He said the agriculture industry is developing rapidly in the north, but the farmer has to "come to the south to get a quota." Mr. Little said large stores hold sales sometimes on eggs from the Fraser Valley, while the northern farmer cannot sell his.

Ed Smith (SC — North Peace River) said the day is not far off when most farmers "will have to face bankruptcy." He stressed that something must be done to improve the gap between production costs and sale value of farm products.

He said many farmers must compete against subsidized producers in other countries, adding that the federal government should stop paying lip service to the problem and do something about it.

AIRS MILK PROBLEM
Robert Strachan (NDP — Cowichan-Malahat) urged the government to regionalize the milk marketing board to ensure the survival of the dairy farmer on Vancouver Island.

He said the Lower Mainland companies and chain retail stores are dumping their milk on the island and reducing the market for the island dairy farmers.

Speaking in defence of his estimates, Mr. Sheldford repeated his position that Canada needs a national farm policy.

He said the federal government should adopt a system of import permits to control the amount of food products coming into the country from the U.S., especially during peak crop periods.

Last year, a total of $277 million worth of imported food was brought into Canada, food that could have been grown in this country, he said.
After four hours of debate, the house voted in favor of the $41,672 budgeted for Mr. Sheldford's office expenses.

Enlargement Of ECM Poses New Problems For Moscow

MOSCOW (Reuter) — With the enlargement of the European Economic Community, the Kremlin faces a potential long-term problem it has never before had to consider.

Ever since Czar Peter the Great opened Russia's eyes to Western Europe more than 150 years ago, the Western part of the European continent has always been divided.

France, Germany and Britain have each been powerful for many of those years, but the three of them have never been united, and compared with Russia, each on its own is a much smaller power.

Now they appear set to become closer to each other than ever before, following the historic ceremony in Brussels last month in which Britain, Denmark, Ireland and Norway signed a treaty of accession to the EEC, climaxing long negotiations.

POTENTIAL GREAT
If and when the resulting, enlarged 10-nation Community moves toward the political unity ardently sought by some West Europeans, this could be a far more powerful check to Russia than any it has ever faced in Europe.

A strong Common Market of 10 nations could also prove a powerful attraction to Eastern neighbors, now joined with the Soviet Union in a trade group called Comecon, and a military alliance, the Warsaw pact.

Britain is cast as the villain in the enlargement of the Common Market, and is branded by the Soviet press "the Trojan horse of the United States in Europe."

In addition to the Trojan horse argument, a main line of criticism here of Common Market enlargement is that workers will suffer and capitalists will benefit at their expense.

BOOMING TRADE
Moscow does a booming trade with the six founding members of the Community. The total was about $2.15 billion in 1970. But this was about the same as Soviet exchanges in 1970 with Bulgaria, one of the smaller members of Comecon.

With the addition of four new countries, the Common Market will account for about one-ninth of the Soviet Union's total trade. It is an important trading area for a Russia seeking to acquire modern technology to implement a scientific and technical revolution in its industry.

Trade officials here are understandably concerned that Soviet goods exported to pay for imported technological expertise are going to have to face a common tariff wall around the 10-nation Community.

Prison Official Given Transfer

MONTREAL (CP) — Gerry Brennan, director of St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, has been transferred to the regional headquarters of the penitentiaries system, Paul Faguy, federal commissioner of penitentiaries, announced.

ROCKING MOSCOW
MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet geophysicist Nikolai Parilsky says the moon's gravity makes the earth's surface rise and fall every day, and Moscow moves up and down about 15 inches, Tass news agency reported.

Usually Buoyant U.S. Dollar Runs Into Some Stormy Seas

LONDON (CP) — The usually buoyant United States dollar is encountering stormy seas on international exchange markets, but the long-range outlook for the closely-watched currency seems favorable.

While the dollar may be in for rough pounding for some time, it will likely strengthen steadily—if quite slowly—during the next several years. Its future course, however, will almost certainly be spotted with a series of political battles between the U.S. and her trading partners.

That, at least, is the prediction of a number of leading financial experts here, in both official and academic circles.

Their optimism was strengthened somewhat by the Nixon administration's formal proposal to Congress last week for a 7.89-per-cent devaluation of the dollar in relation to gold.

Experts believe that while the move has little or no practical value, it will remove uncertainty in international financial circles about how the U.S. government would handle the tricky issue.

The devaluation was assured by the U.S. as part of a currency realignment reached in Washington last December by the 10 leading non-Communist industrial states—the Group of Ten.

In fact, the dollar has not been convertible into gold since last August and foreign governments have already chosen the level at which to fix their currencies against that of the U.S.

The Canadian dollar is floating slightly above the U.S. dollar, which means that Canadian imports, like those of the U.S., are more expensive and exports are cheaper to most foreign customers.

The U.S. hopes the new currency alignments, coupled with an expected lowering of tariff barriers against U.S. exports, will help alleviate a crippling balance-of-payments deficit.

Those who expect a gradual recovery of the dollar are quick to emphasize that they do not minimize the dangers and difficulties which lie ahead.

Dollars are still flooding Europe. Central banks, desperately searching for acceptable ways to reduce their holdings, have had to intervene in the market to support the dollar.

Controls may have to be applied to lessen the continuing inflow of the U.S. currency.

KELOWNA DAILY COURIER, THUR., FEB. 24, 1972 PAGE 11

The French are demanding the dollar be made convertible into gold again. This would enable central banks to request the U.S. buy back its dollars in return for payment in gold. But the U.S. gold stock isn't nearly large enough to meet such demands.

Economists argue, however, that one major reason for these problems is that former dollar holders sold the currency in great quantities mainly in Europe, before the realignment agreement.

These dollars did not flow back to the U.S. when the new agreement was reached, contrary to what many experts predicted at the time. As a result, the supply of dollars in Europe still greatly exceeds demand and the currency has not yet regained its strength.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

AXYDLBAAXR
is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words, are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Police Hunt IRA Terrorists After Bombing At Aldershot

ALDERSHOT, England (CP)—Police pressed a vast hunt in Britain for the men responsible for the IRA terror killing of an army chaplain and six civilians in a bomb blast that wrecked an officers' mess in this military centre.

As British authorities checked railway stations and airports, searched cars around Aldershot and questioned scores of Irishmen living in this country, leading members of the underground Irish Republican Army and its political branch were arrested in Dublin after their left-wing group had claimed responsibility for the Tuesday bombing.

Among those rounded up by Irish police shortly after mid-

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

This One Person Who Mustn't Drink

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD
Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a friend, 47, who has been in the hospital twice in three years for cirrhosis of the liver caused by alcoholism. He is now back on his feet and claims the doctor says he can have two bottles of beer a day, but he drinks much more. Does this sound logical?—H.F.

Not logical in the least, but it isn't too unusual for such patients to say the doctor said that. I don't know who they think they are fooling. The fact is they should never touch any alcohol.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My doctor told me I had high blood pressure but didn't say how high it was. He gave me some tablets to take. I am 51 and never had any sickness whatsoever. He did not tell me what to eat or do, other than to take the tablets. I am especially interested in what I should or shouldn't eat.—V. A.

What you eat is not of any special importance in controlling your blood pressure, so long as you keep your weight under control. Overweight, most decidedly, should be avoided. In some cases, salt should be avoided.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: About six years ago I had what appeared to be a small pimple or bump on my vaginal area. I am 20 now and it is only in the last couple of years that I have learned about venereal disease. I had forgotten about the bump until lately.

It only lasted for a week or so. I did have a rash once around that age but I can't remember exactly when. Should I have a test for venereal disease now, or is six years too long a time.—L. L.

A small, painless sore or lesion that lasts only a short time is one sign of syphilis. After it goes away, a rash follows. That also disappears. But the germ does not disappear. It may be years later before its consequences become apparent, but it is still there.

Of course, other things may have caused that bump and the rash, but there is only one sensible thing to do: be tested for syphilis, and, if you have it, get treatment for it at once. Six years is a long time, but it certainly isn't too late to be treated.

Dear Sir: Can you tell me why celery eaten after a rich meal is wonderful in preventing gas or an upset stomach? My 88-year-old mother has had lots of trouble with her stomach, but when she avoids fats and rich food and eats half a stalk of celery daily she is relatively free of trouble.—Mrs. B. Z.

Couldn't it be the secret lies in the fact that she avoids fats and rich food, and the celery just makes her think her stomach will behave?

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am in my 70s and have been taking a one-a-day vitamin tablet with iron for about two years. Is it possible one can get too much iron or too many vitamins?—M. V. S.

It's possible, but not if you are taking only one a day and have no problems that indicate excess iron from any other source. The amount of iron in such tablets is not large.

The bidding:
West North East South
1 ♠ Pass 3 ♥ Pass 4 ♥
Pass 3 ♥ Pass 2 ♥

Opening lead—nine of spades. In many hands declarer can tell from the bidding and play the cards each defender holds in a particular suit. Knowing their location makes the play of a hand much simpler, and seldom will a competent declarer misfire in such cases.

But declarer may sometimes fail to read the handwriting on the wall, as fashioned by the bidding or play, and come home lame as a result.

Here is a hand where declarer went wrong. South got to four hearts and West led the nine of spades, covered by dummy's ten, East's jack and declarer's king.

After drawing trumps, declarer led the king of diamonds, which lost to West's ace. Back came a spade and East gobbled up dummy's Q-5 with the A-7 before returning a club to West's ace for down one.

Now let's go back to declarer's opening play. Let's say he had played the queen of spades on the nine, instead of the ten. In that case, if East ducked, South would eventually score the queen and king, while if East took the ace, he could not afford to return a spade because of dummy's ten.

This restriction on East's return would ultimately prove fatal to the defense. Whatever East returned, South would later discard a spade on dummy's fourth diamond and so make the contract.

It is not difficult for declarer to read the disposition of the spades. He can tell that East's spade bid was probably based on four or five spades to the A-J and that West's opening club bid denoted the ace of diamonds and five or six clubs headed by the A-Q-J.

Playing the queen of spades at trick one was therefore practically certain to do the job.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

Friday, Feb. 25

Aries (March 21-April 19): Finish your workweek neatly, paying little attention to friends' extravagant ideas. Your own ideas are unorthodox enough for your family, as it is.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): If you travel, notes and schedules are helpful but start early even if you create a slack moment later; use it to collect your thoughts.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Double-checking your appointments for time and place may avert misunderstanding. Emotional ties are not very smooth today, at best. Rely on your own serenity.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): There is no substitute for safe habits, care, and courtesy. Be gentle but firm in dealing with young people. No short cuts in career building now.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): For once, let others take centre stage. Be prepared to rescue friends, pick up the pieces. Rely on your own resources.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Speak your feelings rather than risk being thought indifferent. Schedules, budgets tend to be scattered by the winds by circumstances.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Some loss of time and convenience is inevitable. Let intuition arise to point your path. People in disagreement remain so; there's little you can do.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Expect the minimum; let life unfold without promising to go down with the ship if you can't have your way. Things you don't cling to stay longer.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Financial matters bear close watching as you shut down the workweek. Get a second opinion from somebody who has been through the experience.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Showing you get your mere words you get for money protection. Temporarily, make a trade with partners to get yourself a change of pace to think about what you want to do next.

MARATHON MOTORIST

STROUD, England (CP)—Alroy Lees, 71, says he has run up three million miles of accident-free driving in 51 years. The Gloucestershire veteran has had his own decision on "pressing" was taken and still drives about 6,000 miles a month collecting new W.T. vehicles for a distributor.

Plans are well enough along so you can find definite roles for people, and you can tell the strategic elements of your plan.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Between your hastiness and interference from bystanders, you have your hands full working things out the way you want them.

Police Signs 'For Clarity'

OTTAWA (CP)—Plans to put a sign police on RCMP buildings and vehicles are for purposes of identification only, a spokesman for Solicitor-General Jean-Pierre Goyer said today.

He said there is no intention whatsoever of downgrading the name Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

He was commenting on protests heard recently in the West over the decision, first taken in 1969, over plans to use the police sign.

The protesters charge that the government is attempting to make the national police force known simply as the police rather than the old and honored name of RCMP.

Mr. Goyer's spokesman said the word police is prominent and easily identifiable.

He said if "an individual wants the police, he wants police" and is not concerned with titles. The individual would see the word police first and as he approached closer to the building or vehicle he would see the RCMP insignia on which the name is spelled out.

In the comments last week Mr. Goyer told John Diefenbaker (PC-Prince Albert) there is no intention of changing the name or the function of the RCMP.

He also denied a charge by Mr. Diefenbaker that there is a report recommending the dissolution of the RCMP and its replacement by a new body.

Pledged Industrial Strategy To Be Bared In Few Months

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's promised industrial strategy will be announced in the next few months, Industry Minister Jean-Luc Pepin told the Commons Wednesday.

He was speaking during the fourth of eight days of Commons debate on last Thursday's throne speech, in which the industrial strategy was among the government's current priorities.

The debate continues today. Mr. Pepin said he will, in coming weeks, outline the problems involved in making necessary compromises and setting priorities. He will also give the history of various sectors of the economy and suggest how the new strategy will be put into effect.

He said his officials are already talking to businessmen, getting their views about the new "global" approach to economic planning.

The Wednesday sitting ended with the Liberal majority outvoting the three opposition parties to defeat Social Credit and to approve amendments to the throne speech.

CHARGE MISMANAGEMENT

The amendments charged the government with mismanaging the economy.

In the Senate's throne-speech debate, Opposition Leader Jacques Flynn Quebec said the government is guilty of chronic mishandling of the economy.

He accused the government of economic bungling and excessive interference in the economy, saying it was run by men "who long ago cast their lot with the noisy anti-capitalists of the left."

In the Commons, Mr. Pepin said Opposition Leader Robert Schmalz had been pious in urging an over-all industrial strategy that would spur growth in all sectors.

The problem, the minister said, is to reconcile conflicting goals within an economic plan and decide what aims are most important.

He also defended government handling of the trade talks with the United States, saying it has been combining flexibility with toughness.

He said that to disclose the government bargaining position in the negotiations would destroy its chances of success.

He said the government is making unprecedented efforts to increase exports to other countries citing trade missions he has led abroad and invitations to foreign businessmen to visit Canada.

Earlier, the Commons received the government's spending estimates for the fiscal year that begins April 1.

Expenditures, loans, investments and old age security payments are projected at $18,809,080,169.

C. M. Drury, president of the treasury board, told the House the government is giving top priority to regional expansion, protecting and improving the environment, assistance to Indians and Eskimo and foreign aid.

Former NDP Leader T. C. Douglas said government statements about the economy's health show it complacent and self-satisfied.

Only large corporations—not the majority of Canadians—are in good economic shape, he said.

Counting manpower department trainees, married women and Indians—who are not included in unemployment figures—he estimated that 750,000 Canadians are unemployed.

Lawyer Raps Law Society In Move On Trust Deposits

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lawyer Victor Stephens of Courtenay, B.C., has termed improper a move by the Law Society of British Columbia to compel lawyers to deposit their trust funds in interest-bearing accounts to benefit such programs as legal aid.

In a letter to Attorney-General Leslie Peterson, made public here Wednesday, Mr. Stephens said the majority of the province's lawyers do not support the society's request. He urged a poll of all law firms on the issue.

The Law Society, which governs the B.C. legal profession through an elected board, recently requested the attorney-general to amend the Legal Professions Act by making participation in the Law Foundation compulsory.

The foundation was established by the provincial legislature and allowed to be credited with the interest from trust funds. The interest finances some of the administration costs of the provincial legal aid office and contributes to legal education, legal research, law reform and law libraries.

Lawyers are not allowed to benefit from interest on the trust funds, so the money has generally been kept in non-interest-bearing accounts—thus giving banks free use of the funds.

Mr. Stephens said only 129 of the 863 law firms in the province now are participating in the foundation on a voluntary basis. He said this indicated the true attitude of most lawyers toward the Law Society request.

"While I have no particular desire to protect the bank's position, I fail to see the justification of one group using the same funds for the lawyers' pet project," he said.

Mr. Stephens said the programs should be supported by the public at large through taxation.

Ken Meredith, a Law Society member and a governor of the Law Foundation, said Mr. Stephens' basic premise is wrong.

"He assumes the client is being done out of money; but he can't be done out because you can't identify ownership of interest," Mr. Meredith said.

He explained that varying amounts of money belong to the clients of a law firm are placed in the general trust account. The money is constantly being deposited and withdrawn to carry out clients' business and it would be impossible to determine who should share in the interest paid on a minimum monthly balance.

Mr. Meredith said that in many cases, the client may not want the interest because of his tax position. In any case, he added, clients can have their money deposited in separate, interest-bearing accounts if they wish.

Mr. Meredith said pressure for the change from a voluntary to a compulsory basis had come mainly from lawyers in small centres who feared they might be discriminated against by their bankers if they demanded interest be paid on trust funds.

He said the Law Foundation fund now is worth less than $250,000 but could be expected to increase to $1 million in one year if membership was made compulsory for all lawyers. This would finance improved legal aid throughout the province, he said.

GE Workers Back On Jobs

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — About 2,600 workers at the Canadian General Electric plant began returning to work here Wednesday following a 24-hour strike.

The workers, members of Local 524, United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America, walked out Monday night.

Meanwhile, another 196 union members at the Canadian General Electric plant at Trenton, Ont., voted for strike action Tuesday after a walkout Monday.

The union's negotiating team at Peterborough had unanimously rejected the company proposal.

The Peterborough union membership will vote later on the national contract proposal which deals with wages.

A union spokesman said the present average hourly rate at the Peterborough plant is 4.15 an hour. A company spokesman said the company is offering increases ranging from 41 cents to 51 cents an hour over a two-year period.

A union spokesman at Trenton said the basic issue there is wage parity with the Peterborough workers. He said women employees receive 67 cents an hour less than those in Peterborough and men 41 cents an hour less.

Tax Cuts A Possibility In An 'Election Budget'

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government plans to spend about $896 for each man, woman and child in Canada during the next fiscal year, a slight increase from the $890 this year for each of 21 million Canadians.

The small spending increase may permit a spring election budget with tax cuts.

The government asked Parliament Wednesday to approve $18,809,080,169 in expenditures, loans, investments, and old age security payments for the new year which starts April 1.

Total government estimates are up only six-tenths of one per cent from the $18,693,940,921 allocated for the current fiscal year.

But a shift of money from loans and investments to departmental programs leaves the government with more of its spending for projects more visible to the voter's eye.

Also, the estimates do not include expenditures for the recently announced two-price system for wheat or for planned housing and neighborhood improvement programs.

The estimates were prepared during December and January. Supplementary estimates will be presented to Parliament to cover new spending.

LISTS PRIORITIES

In presenting the bulky book of estimates to the Commons, Treasury Board President C.M. Drury said the government is giving priority to regional economic expansion, protection of the environment, assistance to Indians and Eskimos, northern development, and foreign aid.

At a news conference, he said less money will be needed to stimulate the economy and create jobs because government measures now are boosting the economy and reducing unemployment.

Mr. Drury said the increase in government spending over the last few years has been at about the same rate as increases in the gross national product.

But Conservative critic Marcel Lambert (Edmonton West) attacked the government for allowing expenditures to almost triple in 10 years.

C. M. DRURY
... bulky book

"Government gets bigger and bigger and bigger and it's not necessarily good for the country," he said.

BLAMES BUREAUCRACY

Max Saltzman (NDP—Waterloo) said the estimates show increased costs because of a mushrooming bureaucracy. Social Credit Leader Real Caouette suggested that the government can pay a $100 dividend to each Canadian if it can afford to spend more than $100 per capita simply paying interest on the public debt.

The public debt stood at $46 billion Jan. 1. Most interest on this debt is paid to Canadians who own government bonds.

The estimates provide for $2.2 billion in interest payments. The estimates show that departmental spending will rise to $15.75 billion from $15.18 billion. Old age security payments will go up to $2.27 billion from $2.21 billion.

Payments to the provinces under the Canada Assistance Plan for welfare programs will jump to $489.6 million from $441.2 million, while grants to industries in depressed areas will soar to $174.4 million from $116.2 million.

The defence budget will increase $48 million to $1.9 billion because of higher pay and allowances.

A change in bookkeeping procedure will reduce the payment to the Unemployment Insurance Commission to $1.1 million from $168.5 million.

Instead of paying into the fund on a regular basis, the government will pay only when unemployment is more than four per cent of the labor force. The amount it has to pay, if any, will be calculated in retrospect.

Officials said Canada's foreign aid spending, much of which goes indirectly to Canadian firms, will rise by $67 million to $491 million. The new estimate is 49 per cent of gross national product, compared with 47 per cent last year. Both figures are a long way from the one per cent recommended by the United Nations.

Allotments for public works projects include $70.5 million for work in 1972-73 on the planned international airport at Ste. Scholastique, Que., $42.8 million for planning and land purchase for a new Toronto-area airport and $15.3 million to improve the airport at Malton, Ont.

Victoria Faces Two Law Suits After Granting Permission

VICTORIA (CP)—The provincial government has granted permission for two lawsuits to be filed against it.

The move, disclosed in cabinet orders made public Wednesday, coincided with a complaint by Garde Gardom (L—Vancouver Point Grey) that the government denies the public the right to sue the government and its agencies. Mr. Gardom said the permission has been granted only once since the Social Credit government was elected in 1952. One lawsuit involves Mrs. Letitia Tom of California, who was injured when the Comox-Powell River ferry struck a piling while it was docking.

A petition filed by Mrs. Tom in B.C. Supreme Court claims she grabbed a door jamb at the entrance to the car deck to keep her balance when the ship bounced off the piling.

The petition claims the door slammed shut, breaking three of Mrs. Tom's fingers and causing permanent damage.

The suit claims $461 in damages to date, as well as unstated continuing damages.

The second suit was filed by Lucaya Development Corp. of Vancouver, which is claiming $31,834 from the provincial government.

The company built a stores building for the highways department at Canal Flats, and claims the public works department demanded that the company provide features in the building that were not required in the contract.

SOUND TILT
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A group of researchers at Vanderbilt University's School of Engineering is experimenting with a method of sending sonic waves through fractured bones to measure healing. In the new technique sonic vibrations are measured on an oscilloscope and analyzed by a computer. By comparing the results with a measurement from a person's unbroken limb doctors can tell whether a patient's broken limb has healed sufficiently to be returned to normal use.

GIFT TO NIXON
MIFFS ZOOLOGIST
TORONTO (CP) — Cecilia Long, chairman of the Metropolitan Toronto Zoological Society is discouraged.

She has spent more than two years unsuccessfully trying to obtain a pair of panda bears from China for the Metro zoo.

Now, China has given two such bears to President Richard Nixon of the United States.

She sent a letter Wednesday outlining her predicament to Mitchell Sharp, federal minister of external affairs.

"We felt confident that Canada's chances for success were far greater than those of Mr. Nixon because of our diplomatic recognition of the People's Republic of China," she said in the letter.

What also disturbs her is that the two muskoxen being given China by the U.S. are bred from animals from Canada.

Treasury Seeks Computer Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government will set up a new computer system during the next five years to cope with increasing needs, the treasury board announced Wednesday.

Following a year-long study into government use of electronic data-processing equipment, the board said computer use will be set up under three broad categories.

Departmental computer centres will be used for specialized or confidential matters within government departments; other centres will be used to serve a number of departments or agencies on specific topics; still others will be used to serve several departments or agencies which have related computer needs.

The government will continue to use equipment supplied by private companies in all cases where it is most economical. Currently, about $81 million a year is spent on computers by the government. By 1975-76, the cost is expected to rise to about $205 million.

Canadian Exporters Face More Competition In China

OTTAWA (CP) — If President Nixon's current trip to China results in more liberal trade between the two countries, Canadian exporters may find more competition in their new market there.

While final figures for 1971 are not yet available, Canadian exports to China exceed the $200-million mark last year, a 70-per-cent increase in two years. By far the biggest market has been for wheat, other foodstuffs and metals.

Before his departure for Peking, Mr. Nixon announced some relaxation in American prohibitions on trading with China. The trade department here said they would have little significance on Canadian exports.

But there is a feeling here that if the U.S. becomes much more inclined towards exporting to China, Canadian exporters will suffer. This could be particularly true if Canadian exporters who only now are becoming interested in selling to China feel that the obstacles of competing with the U.S. are too great.

Canada shipped goods worth approximately $204 million to China last year, compared with $141.9 million in 1970 and $122.9 million in 1969. Imports from China last year amounted to only $23.3 million.

In nine months last year, Canadian exports included $157.1 million in wheat, other grains and foodstuffs, $6.4 million in metals, and $2.1 million in woodpulp and other forest products. Other exports were small and scattered, ranking from $198 worth of isotopes and radioactive materials, to a $248,000 boat.

The U.S. trade restrictions that were relaxed a week ago covered heavy equipment, such as locomotives, rolling mills, internal combustion engines and construction equipment.

One source here said these products are not likely to be significant in Canadian-Chinese trade—nor, perhaps, in American-Chinese trade, because China prides itself on being a producer of heavy industrial equipment which it is sending as foreign aid to other countries.

Canada will put on its own trade fair in Peking this year, from Aug. 21 to Sept. 2, in which some 250 Canadian firms would like to participate. Each one of the firms which does participate, however, will be specifically designated by the Chinese as one whose products are of specific interest to Chinese state buyers.

U.S. News Media Now Enters 'Realm Of Law Enforcement'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lawyer for a reporter told the Supreme Court Wednesday that reporters in the United States are rapidly becoming an extension of the law enforcement system rather than providers of information to the public.

"The effect of a distressingly increasing pattern of prosecutors and other elements of the law enforcement apparatus to subpoena reporters is to make the news media an appendage of that apparatus," said Edgar A. Zingman.

Zingman argued for Paul M. Branzburg, an investigative reporter for the Louisville Courier-Journal in Kentucky, in one of three landmark cases the court is hearing to decide whether reporters can be exempted from testifying before secrecy-shrouded grand juries.

In the others, Earl Caldwell of the New York Times seeks to avoid an appearance before a San Francisco grand jury investigating the Black Panthers, Paul Pappas, a television cameraman-reporter for WTEV in New Bedford, Mass., declined to tell another grand jury what he saw during a visit to a local Black Panther headquarters.

WROTE POT STORIES
In the Kentucky case, Branzburg wrote two stories quoting confidential sources, describing in one the production by two young people of hashish from marijuana and in the other the widespread use of marijuana in and around the Kentucky state capitol building in Frankfort.

In arguing the Caldwell case Tuesday, Solicitor-General Erwin Griswold said: "I had supposed that everyone in the country except the president of the United States was answerable to a subpoena before a grand jury."

Following that theme, Justice department lawyer William Reynolds said exempting reporters from grand jury testimony would be tantamount to establishing a "new and specific class of citizen" under the First Amendment of the U.S. constitution, which guarantees freedom of the press.

Zingman said there are times when a reporter should be required to disclose his sources or other information to a grand jury, but the decision on whether he should appear should be made only at a public court hearing.
